4 2 2

144 Melba Parade is located directly opposite the beach and in the premier precinct of Point Roadknight and the Surf Coast. This unique property designed by Alistair Knox - designer, environmentalist, builder, landscape-architect and arguably the father of the alternative natural building movement. This north facing home is set amongst the trees to achieve a total relationship between the structure and the landscape. A complimentary blend of natural materials, solid timbers and Mt Gambier Lime stone. This perfect four bedroom beach house provides ample accommodation with three bedrooms, open plan kitchen/living, and dining on the ground level, with the expansive rear doors allowing easy interaction with the rear garden. The large windows provide an abundance of light and connection to the native landscape. The wood-fire hearth is the literal heart of the
