Many people dream of having a neat, welcoming, low maintenance cottage on the coast that they can escape to on the weekends from their busy city lives. Somewhere with a native setting but walking distance to a beautiful beach. Somewhere to wake up to in the mornings listening to native birds and wondering whether the world has disappeared because the area is so quiet. Well no need to look further than this well presented 3BR residence set on a 665sqm (app) corner allotment surrounded by grass trees and mature eucalypts. Relax in front of the wood heater in winter or sit out on the sundeck in summer when you are not at the beach. Moggs Creek is one of the most tightly held areas on the Great Ocean Road and affordable
