There is something special about knowing that the unobstructed views that you will fall in love with here will never be built out. This and the many smart design elements will ensure that this feels like a forever home.

The floor plan cleverly places both the living areas and all four bedrooms on the upper level to deliver ease and simplicity. The sense of light and space in the open plan living zone is as striking as the views of breaking surf, showcased through floor to ceiling glazing. The extensive kitchen (with walk-in pantry) and the seamless flow to outdoor entertaining make it so easy to share this home with family and friends.
